

The deposition of samuel Smith of Baxford aged about 25 years who testifieth and saith that about five ^{years} since I was one night at the house of Isaac Estick gent. of Foppsfield and I was as fast as I know to ride in discourse and the above said Esticks wife ^{spoke to} ~~told~~ me I had not ~~not~~ ^{ought you} be so rude in discourse for I might see it hereafter and as I was agreeing whom that night about a quarter of a mile from the said Esticks house by a stone wall I received a little blow on my shoulder with I know not what and the stone wall rattled very much which affrighted me my horse also was affrighted very much but I cannot give the reason of it
